Goodwill Ohio Valley | Employee Experience

Professional Development Plan

Name: Amanda Leece

Date: 04/12/2026

Position: Store Manager

Work Location: 9018 Loveland

My ultimate goal: Amanda will develop the comprehensive operational, leadership, and merchandising skills necessary to successfully manage a 2 million dollar Goodwill retail location.

Goal 1	Goal 2	Goal 3
Amanda will improve her people management skills by completing a leadership communication workshop and implementing weekly one-on-one meetings with all direct reports, achieving a 20% improvement in employee engagement scores within six months.	Amanda will master hardlines and softlines production management by increasing processing efficiency by 15% and reducing floor-ready time by 2 days within three months, as measured by daily production reports.	Amanda will enhance her merchandising capabilities by completing advanced visual merchandising training and implementing seasonal merchandising strategies that increase average transaction value by 10% within six months.

My Why Strong people management directly impacts store performance and employee retention, which are critical for reaching 2 million dollar revenue targets. By building trust and communication with her team, Amanda will create an environment where employees feel valued and motivated to excel, ultimately driving better customer service and operational efficiency that supports OVGI's mission of changing lives through the power of work.	My Why Efficient production management directly impacts inventory turnover and revenue generation, essential components for scaling to a 2 million dollar operation. Streamlined processing ensures quality merchandise reaches the sales floor quickly, maximizing sales opportunities while maintaining the high standards customers expect from Goodwill.	My Why Strategic merchandising is fundamental to maximizing revenue per square foot, a key metric for high-performing stores. Effective merchandising creates an engaging shopping experience that encourages customers to purchase more items, directly supporting revenue growth while showcasing donated goods in ways that honor donors' contributions to OVGI's mission.
